Thanks Josef, yes I would like your help.
 I attached the english file. You can translate and send back or if you like I can add you to the project and you can commit directly. This is a json file so change what is in the quotes to the right of the colon. Save the changes to en.json will be cz.json and add to the language.json, I hope this will be obvious.

Thanks.

I have added you to the project. You have the default of bazaar access and shell access. If you feel you need more let me know. You are welcome to take a stab at anything on the to do list. If you have other suggestions please feel free to offer them but look at the last item of the faq.

I am not sure I understand Launchpad. I have read the docs but I am not sure what needs to be done. I think what I should do is set it up to import the sourceforge branch rather than maintaining both. I have to investigate. You should be ok to just work from the sourceforge branch. worse case is that I could pull your changes and push them to lp until I figure out how to do this.

I had an issue that I do not understand. I think it is an encoding issue. I am using eclipse and I have it set up for UTF-8. I updated the code through bazaar and all the javascript was fine but the pop up forms(login, register etc.) that use PHP code to send the forms were blank. I downloaded just the cz.json file via loggerhead, then copied and pasted the contents into my eclipse file and saved it and everything was fine.

I am sure the encoding issue is on my end. were you able to load your file and test it? when I do a diff in bazaar I get 2 lines changed in the cz.json file from when I re-saved it, the language line and the username line. Any ideas? I don't know if I need to push the file that I have changed or if the issue is elsewhere. I know you have more work to do on the translation. The Netherlands and Spanish files worked fine but they are closer to English in their character set. I think when I started the project, I did not realize but eclipse created everything with a cp1215 or something character set. I changed mid stream to UTF8. I re-saved the en.json, thinking that it might be the problem. when I do a bazaar status it shows no changes.

I attached the modified cz.json file to see if you can make sense of it.

Sorry for the inconvenience.

I updated the file from bazaar and put it on the demo server and it worked so whatever the encoding issue was seems to be resolved. Thanks!
